

Sharing Protected Health Information with Family and Friends

Occasionally patients may want us to discuss their conditions, prescriptions, lab work, or test results with members of their family and/or others. Under the new federal Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act we are not allowed to discuss your private health issues with anyone unless you have given us consent. Please indicated below the person(s) we may discuss your health information with (this may be family or friends). If you ever want to change this list (add or delete) you must notify us.
